Pendleton High School

Pendleton, Indiana

With the world in a turmoil over space supremacy and the threat of war all around us, Nature with her seasons continues to rule with an iron hand the appearance, activities, and school life of Pendleton High School. We have chosen as our theme for the 1959 Papyrus the seasons of the year and their effect on P.H.S. In choosing the seasons as our theme, we have broken the tradition of yearbook order, but we felt that the colored picture merited a fresh and different style.

Spring - Summer

Judy Baker was crowned Princess and Francis Conner, Prince.

The Junior-Senior Prom was held on May 23, 1958, at the well-equipped Student Center in Muncie.

The dazzling theme of "Pink Carrousel" was carried out in many fascinating and beautiful details. There was a carrousel in pink and silver in the center of the floor; pink horses with flowing white manes and glitter trim stood guard at the doors and on either side of the stage. The centerpieces on the tables were small carrousels. Even the punch was pink!

The highlight of the prom was the crowning of the king, queen, prince, and princess. Jane Carpenter reigned as queen; Ed Day as king; Judy Baker as princess; and Francis Conner as prince.

Juniors and Seniors Dance to the Splendor of Pink Carrousel

Jane Carpenter reigned as Queen and Ed Day, King.

Highlight of the evening was the Grand March.

Decorations centered around a pink carrousel surrounded by four pink and silver horses.

Standing around the punch bowl enjoying refreshments are Eleanor Miller, Judy Filbrun, Judy Hinkle, Jo Ann Brown, Linda Rector, Mr. Sibbach, and Vicki Smith.

"Spring Prom Magic" came when the juniors were thinking about their first prom.

The work and rehearsals weren't easy, but everyone agreed that when an endeavor ends in success, it's certainly rewarding. We know, too, that the play wouldn't have been a success without the help and co-operation of our directors, Mrs. Dimich and Joyce Brandenburg, and of all of the committees.

Joe Owen and Mariam Anson surprise Kay Hite as she relates her alibi to Judy Hinkle and Judy Baker.

Track Team Wins Conference Trophy

Coach Dave Robinson led his Pendleton Irish trackmen to a very successful season. The Irish were able to down 21 of 24 opponents in regular season play. By the time of the White River Conference meet, the Irish were molded into a powerful well-balanced team. Seven teams met on the Anderson High School track, and the Pendleton Irish nosed out a good Madison Heights team 90 ¾ to 84 ¾. Pendleton had the only triple winner, Dan Moon, who scored 26 points. In the Muncie sectional the Irish placed third behind Muncie Central and Anderson.

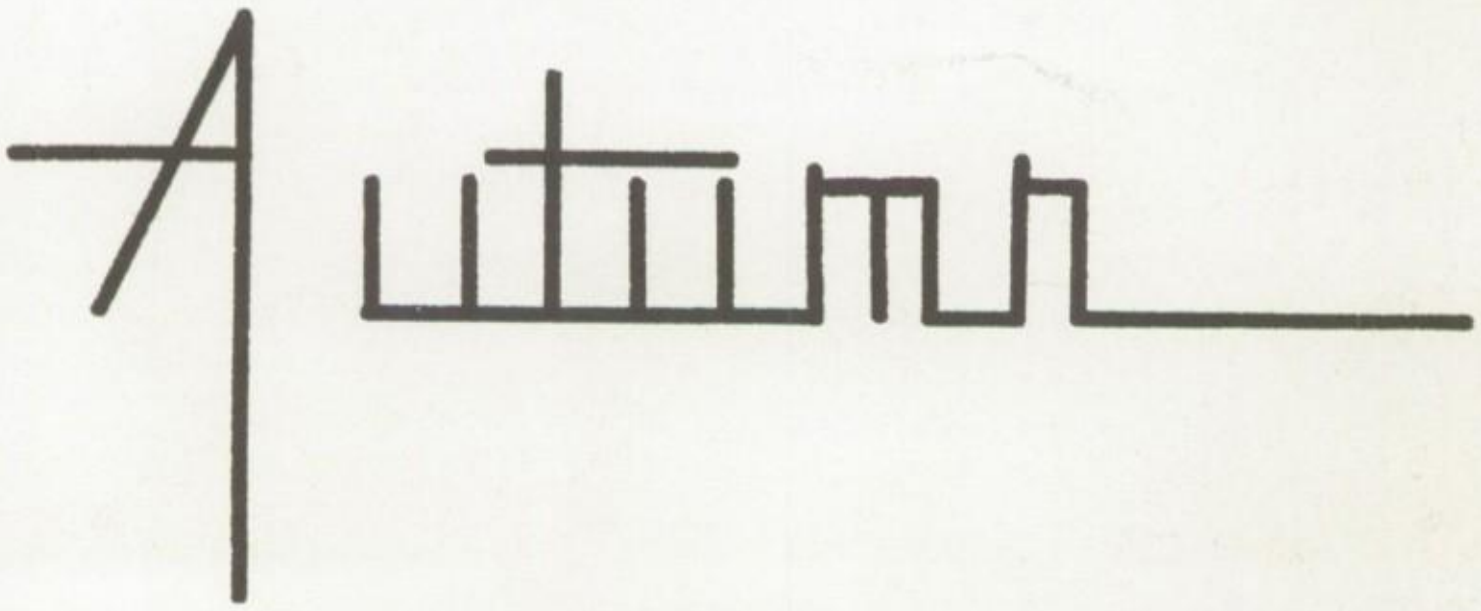
It couldn't be happening to us! That's what the students of Pendleton High School thought as they watched smoke pouring from the gymnasium April 13, 1958.



Autumn

PHS Expands and Improves

A modern shop building was erected for vocational students.

With autumn came enrollment day and the last year of high school for the 1959 class. As we reluctantly wandered down East Street, we noticed the number of improvements that had been made during the summer. A traffic signal had been erected at the intersection of Elm and East Streets for the purpose of controlling pedestrian and vehicular traffic in front of the school building. A sixty-foot flagpole had been raised on the lawn south of the high school. The new

Vocational Building had been completed and was ready for the Vocational Agriculture and Industrial Arts classes.

Inside the building we found that the library had been moved to the large study hall and a new classroom took the place of the old library. The science department and the cafeteria had been enlarged.

In the gymnasium we found an entirely new, modern appearance created by the installation of an acoustical ceiling directly under the large beams. New dressing

Another change on the campus was a new flagpole at the south side of the High School building.

Six teachers new on the P.H.S. scene were J. Keesling, F. Lee, B. Rittenhouse, H. Swanders, J. Pomplin, and L. Reeves (not pictured).

rooms for the home and visiting teams had been built under the bleachers; a new Band Room had been furnished under the north sections; new score boards and a new sound system had been installed.

There were changes in curriculum also. Study halls were a thing of the past, and in their places we must have home room first period and five classes daily.

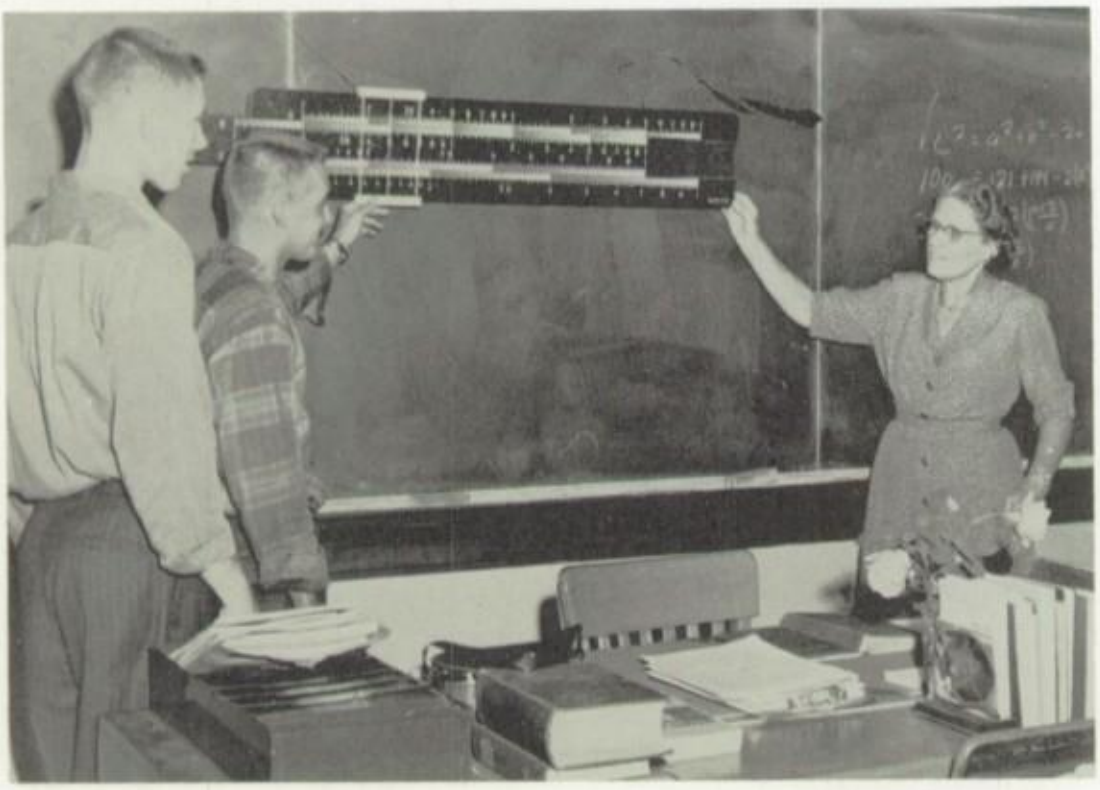
Mr. Jacob and Mr. Rogers inspect the remodeled gym before the Marine Band Concert.

Mathematics and Science Prepare . . .

There is a growing need for mathematics in this age with new inventions, engineering, and space travel. The fundamentals are learned early in school but later math becomes more complex and detailed. Students with a firm math background have wider occupational opportunities. Pendleton has many math courses such as arithmetic, trigonometry, geometry, algrebra, business math, and general math.

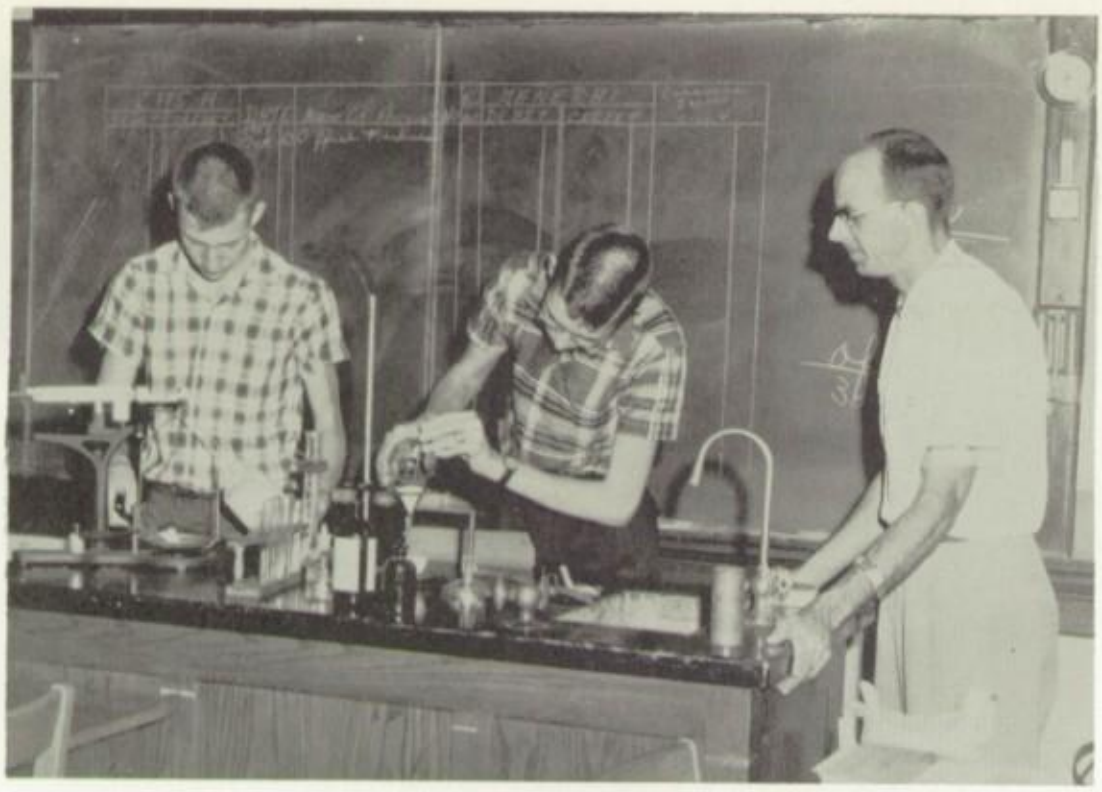
Mr. Robertson explains a plane geometry figure to Bob Jones, Judy King, Jane Titus, and Richard Jones.

Mrs. Eley directs Jon Crosley in a problem in eighth grade arithmetic while Jim McLaughlin and Tim Douglas bewilderedly watch.



The slide rule presents no problem to Fred Honnold and Frank Ketring.

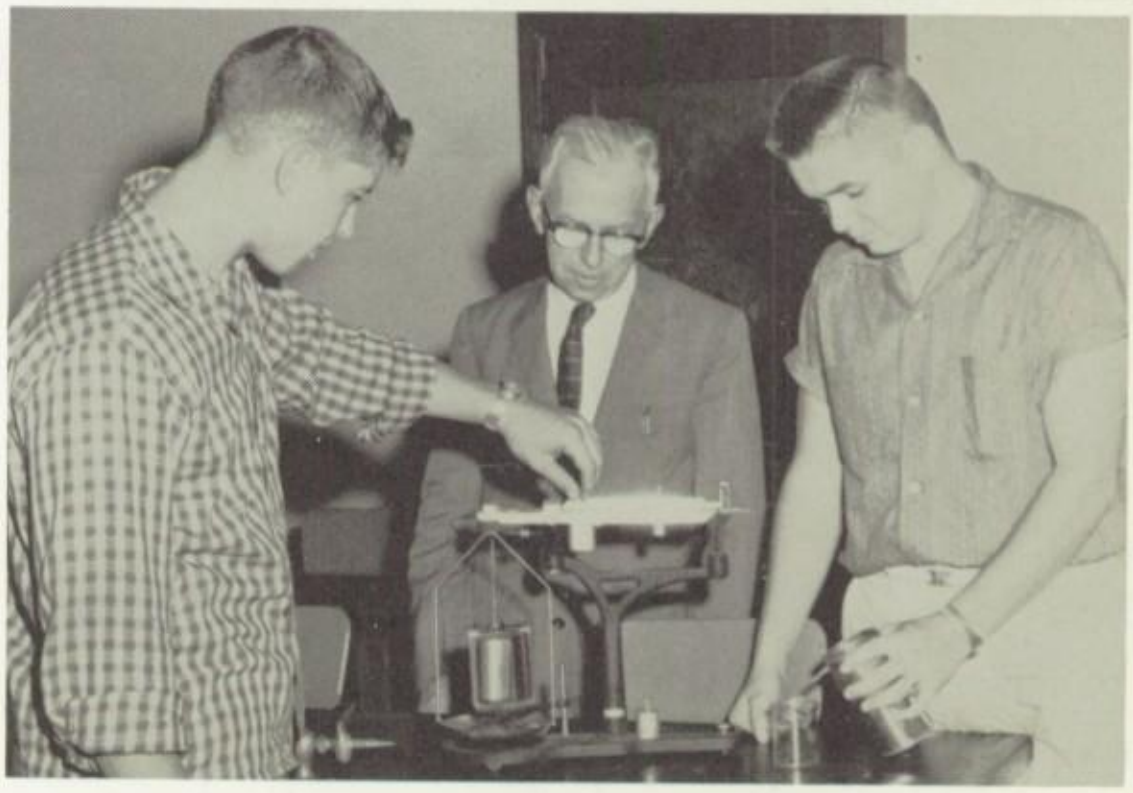
. . . Students for a Successful Tomorrow . . .



Pendleton High School students are fortunate in having a variety of science courses available to them. Many students enroll in chemistry and physics to prepare themselves for a scientific career such as engineering or nursing. All students are required to complete a year of biology and a year of general science before graduating from high school

Mr. Wolf tensely awaits the results in chemistry class as Gene Wolff and David Jeffrey concoct their experiment.

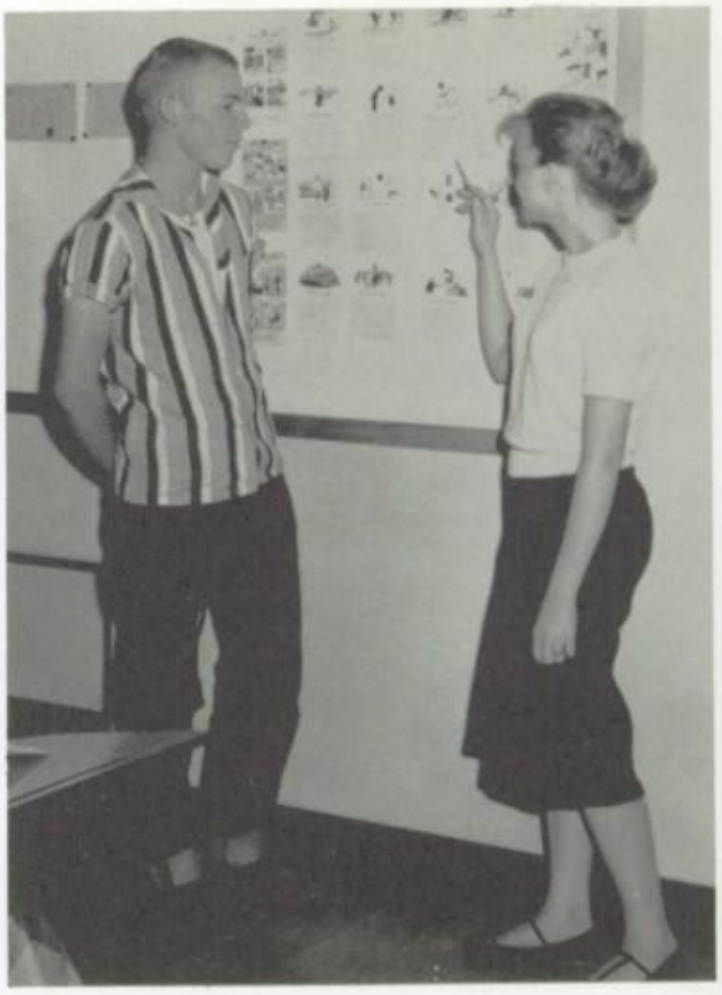
Jack Young and Vicki White admire the beauty of a Crustacea in biology class.



Mr. Lee stands aghast in physics class as Marvin Castor and Max Stinson explain their wonderful discovery.

. . . While English and Social Studies . . .

Social Studies includes a variety of subject matter. Sociology and psychology help students to better understand themselves and others while civics helps them to become good citizens and elect and support their government. Students enrolled in history and geography courses learn the location, problems, and background of the various countries around the world.



Stanley Boram and Bea Allison discuss some points in business law.

Never a dull moment in sociology.

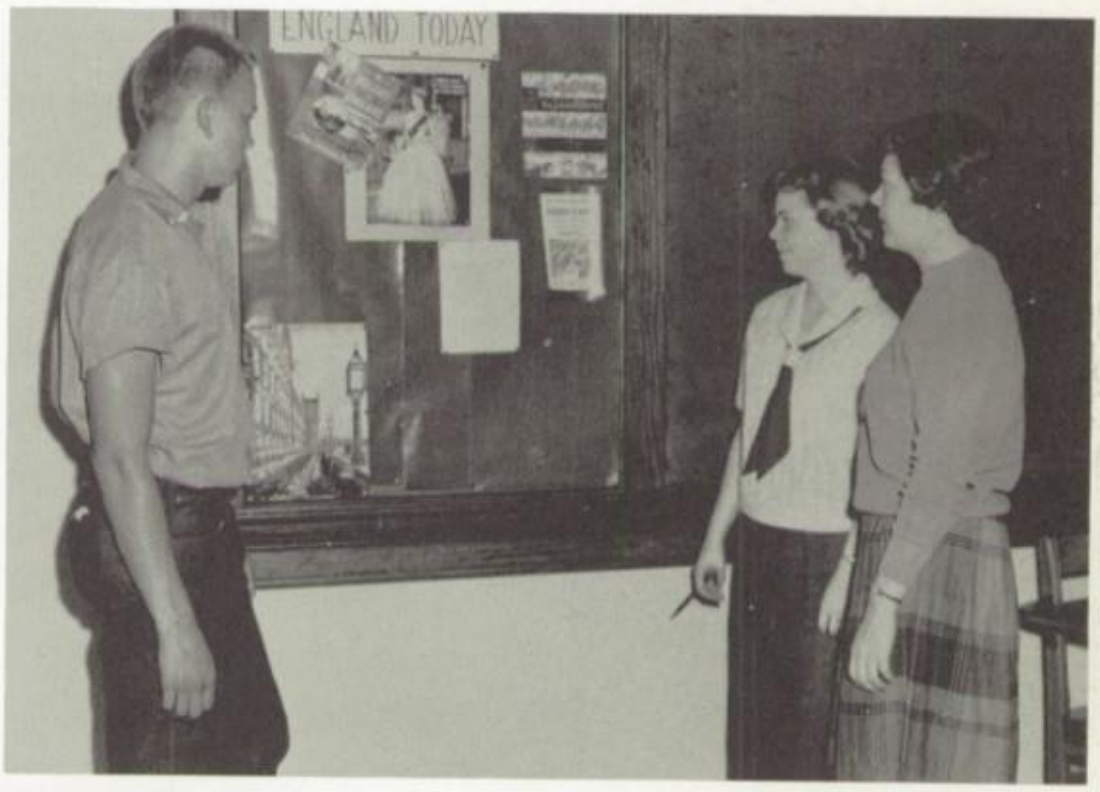
Business Law prepares students for everyday business practices and is part of the preparation for a secretary of a law firm.

Martha Harris and Gordon Dowden listen carefully as Carolyn Harless demonstrates for Mr. Cross.

Remain the Basic Requirements.

Frank Ketring introduces the next speaker in speech class.

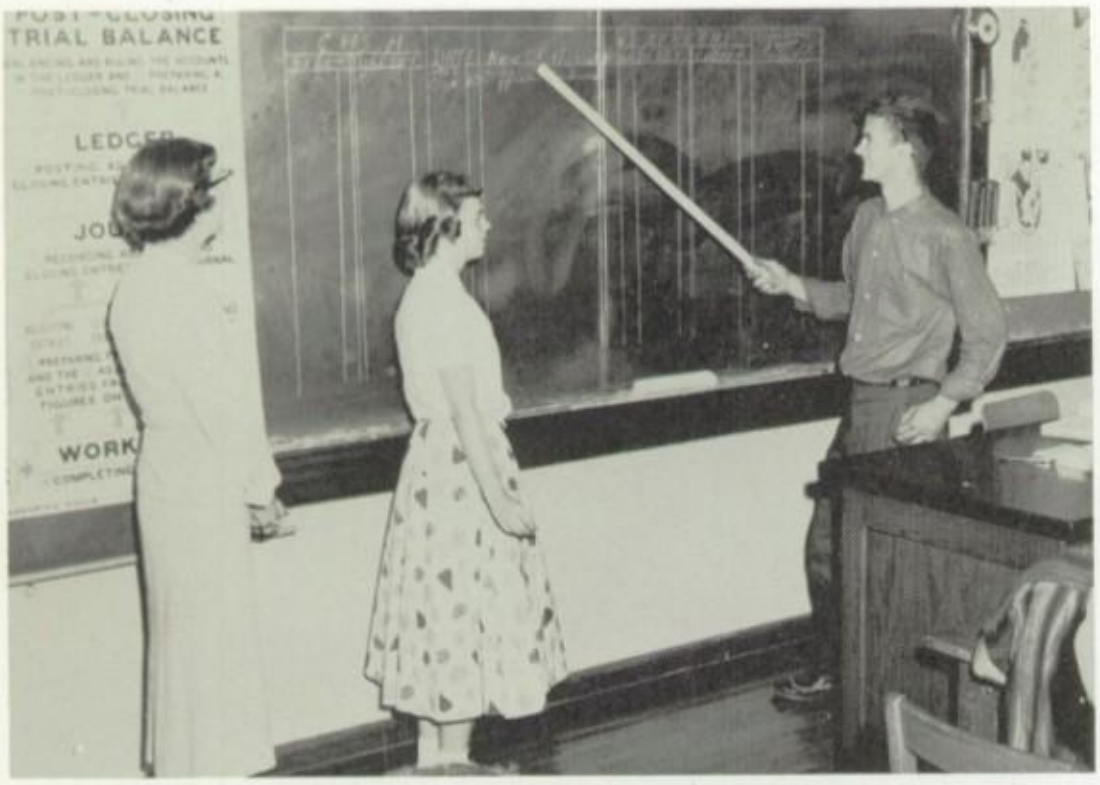
Three years of English are required of all high school students. Students enrolled in English study the great classics from the literature of other countries as well as the great works of American authors. They learn to speak, write, and read English more fluently through their instruction in English grammar and composition. In speech the students participate in activities based largely on everyday speaking situations in which all or most of the students are likely to be taking part, now and in the years immediately ahead.



Dan Humfleet, Carolyn Main, and Judy Wilkinson admire the bulletin board in English literature.

Mrs. Finlay helps Diane Bradley and Jennifer Mingle diagram a sentence in seventh grade English.

Other Studies, Such as Commerce . . .



The commerce department prepares students to accept positions in the business world immediately upon graduation from high school. Many former students of Pendleton High School are employed by local business firms as well as by companies in surrounding cities.

Typing is a must for those who plan to work in offices and also is very helpful for those entering college. At Pendleton a student may have two years of typing if he chooses.

A ledger page is no puzzle to Carolyn Main and Jack Ashby.

Jobs with a future are always open for bookkeeping students. Bookkeeping is offered to those seniors who are interested in acquiring a sound business background for accounting or a position as bookkeeper.

Shorthand prepares students for higher salaried secretarial positions.

Symbols and brief forms of shorthand interest J. Brandenburg and K. Sawyer in Mrs. Dimich's shorthand class.

"Keep your eyes on the copy, Toni."

. . . and Vocational Training . . .

C. Martin, T. Rogers, and L. Gardner repair a tire while B. Ellis, J. Neely, D. Fisher and G. Mingle finish some carpenter work.

Home economics prepares girls for a homemaking career. Whether they plan to get a job or get married, girls need to know something about homemaking.

Home economics starts in the seventh grade where the girls have six weeks of sewing and six weeks of grooming. In the eighth grade they begin preparing simple foods for six weeks and then have six weeks of clothing.

J. McCoy, M. Merrill and S. Sheets try their luck at making a sponge cake under Miss Burton's supervision.

Mrs. Woschitz, student teacher, gives Tony Foutch assistance in typing.

The freshmen have home economics as a full year course with clothing construction and meal preparation more complex.

The sophomores study health and home nursing for one semester and then begin baking, preparing meats, and preserving foods. Last fall they took a trip to the Market Basket where they witnessed a demonstration on meat cutting.

The juniors and seniors, during their study of child care and development the first semester, visited grade school, the public library, and the hospital in Muncie. During the second semester they studied house planning and furnishing.

Prepare Students . . .

Hugh Rider, student teacher in sociology and English, instructs the Juniors.

Mrs. Rittenhouse assists the physical education girls in a difficult relay.

Denetia Lykins shows Mr. Swander her completed design in art class.

. . . for Specific Occupations.

Educators today say that students need to develop skills which require the use of their hands as well as those which require the use of their minds. The Pendleton High School student does this by taking Industrial Arts. His freshman year is devoted to learning how to make a working drawing in Mechanical Drawing. As a sophomore, the student is introduced to metal and wood areas by making things with his hands and hand tools. He is introduced to a few power machines but only as an introduction to the following years. As a junior, he learns to operate all power equipment in making projects and passing skill tests.

Mr. Cross explains perspective and scale to R. Merrill.

He also learns about gas and electric welding and repairing small gas engines. A senior studies power machines and gets into a little auto mechanics.

Mr. Pomplin approves as W. Conner demonstrates the use of a drill press to P. Young and J. Anderson.

During each year it is important for the student to remember what was learned the year before, to keep in mind the hand processes, drawing and operation ot a machine. The most important thing a boy can and does get from a shop class is exploration and experience.

Students Speak Through Their Council

This year's student council consists of a representative from each homeroom and all class and organization presidents.

In November, Judy Baker, Kay Hite, and Linda Stoner attended a conference of Madison County Student Council representatives at Madison Heights.

The student council decorates the Christmas trees in the auditorium and cafeteria each year and plans the various convocations and special programs.

. . . Helpfulness and Kindness to Others.

"With love in my heart, forgetting self, and with charity for all, I will make the object of my life helpfulness and kindness to others." The members of the Sunshine Society try to attain these goals by donating annually to the Riley Fund.

Last fall there was a formal initiation of new members and on December 13, they helped sponsor the Sunshine Hi-Y Christmas dance.

On April 4, the girls attended the State Convention at Zionsville. Two girls attend Sunshine Camp every summer where they learn what Sunshine Societies from different parts of the state are doing. Last summer Joyce Brandenburg and Linda Martin represented Pendleton at this Camp.

Sunbeams Help Improve School and Community

Composed of seventh and eighth grade girls, the Sunbeam Society is a very operative group at Pendleton High School. They attempt to complete at least four projects a year which include a formal initiation followed by a tea for the mothers, a Christmas party, an Easter program for the sixth grade, and a spring style show.

In addition to these projects the girls assume the responsibility of helping keep the school grounds clean. They also participate in a number of charitable activities in the school and community.

Connie Scott, president; Linda Spurgeon, vice-president; Susan Robertson, secretary; Kathy Kline, treasurer.

Preparation Is Made for a Possible Career

Checking out books, placing cards in the books, and putting them in their proper places provide excellent experience for any girl who wishes to become a librarian after graduation. During the year there are three girls helping in the library. These girls also run errands necessary in their daily work as student librarians.

Each year a certain number of girls are chosen as secretaries in the principal's office. Their main duties are answering the telephone and running errands. In this way the girls get experience for secretarial positions which they may have after graduation or during the summer months.

Boys' 4-H and F.F.A. Work Harmoniously

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. To become an F.F.A. member, a student in Pendleton High School must be enrolled in vocational agriculture. Each year members go on judging trips and take a field trip of educational interest during spring vacation. F.F.A. provides knowledge and experience that will be useful to future farmers.

Members of the 4-H agricultural club learn the fundamentals of agriculture as well as showmanship. The exhibition of all projects at the 4-H fair in Alexandria climaxes the 4-H club year. Preparations are already being made for Pendleton's 4-H agricultural club next spring.

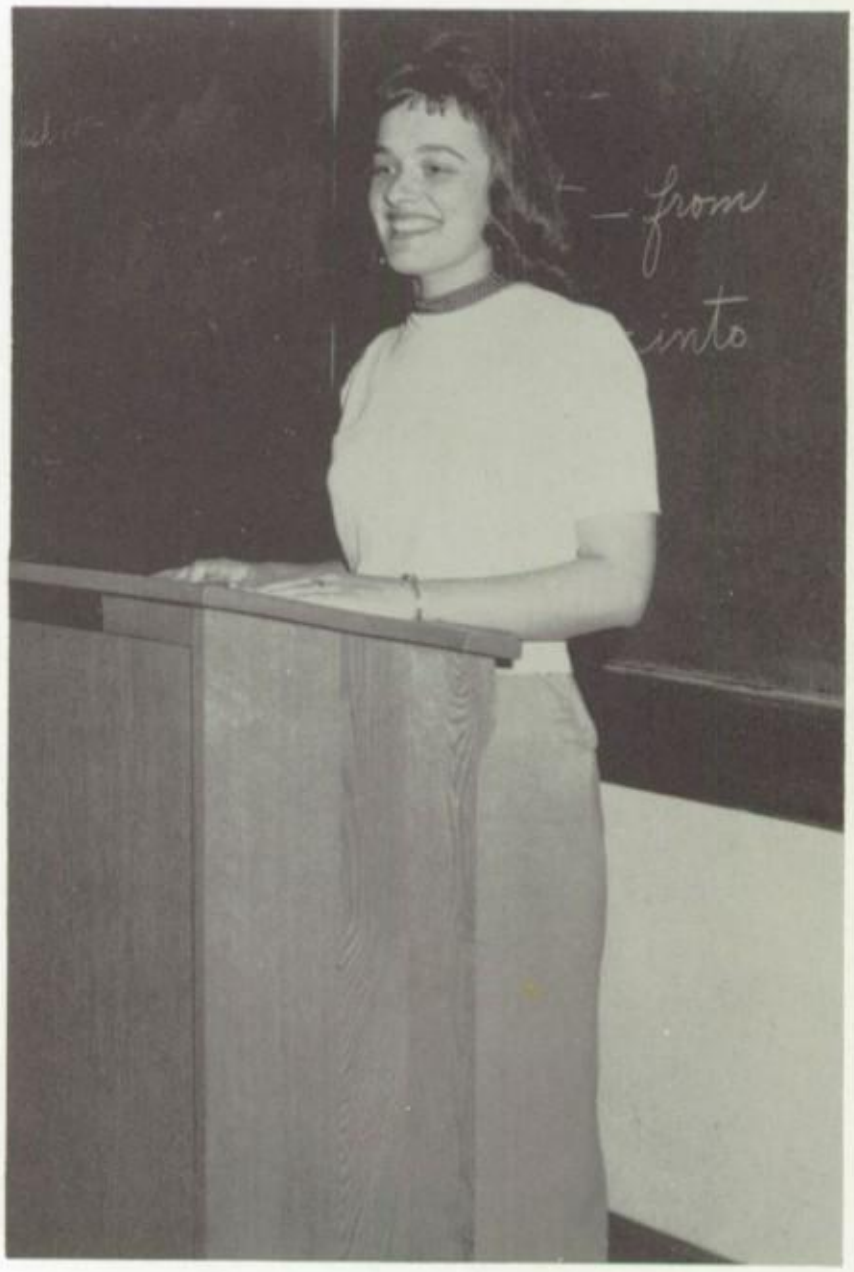
4-H Girls Work to Be Better Homemakers

Improving and maintaining an attractive personal appearance, developing desirable personality traits by working with others, and building a good foundation for homemaking predominate as the objectives of the Girls' 4-H.

This year 50 girls in Junior and Senior high school, carrying a total of 103 projects, completed 4-H work by exhibiting their projects at the 4-H County Fair in Alexandria. Five girls received blue ribbons in the County Dress Revue.

The Senior Pic Wick Club boasts a representation of 10 Junior Leaders. At the County 4-H Fair Janet Mercer, a senior, was selected outstanding 4-H Junior Leader and Beauty Queen of Madison County.



Janet Mercer was elected County 4-H Queen.

G.A.A. Promotes Sportsmanship and Good Will

Competing with the girls of other schools and taking part in other supervised activity help the G.A.A. girls of Pendleton High School to develop good sportsmanship and leadership.

During October and November deck tennis was especially popular with the girls. They also participated in basketball, softball, tennis, and swimming.

Hi-Y Symbolizes Good Citizenship

Hi-Y, an organization of sophomore, junior, and senior boys, carries out many useful projects for the benefit of the school and the community. They help sponsor the Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas dance, which is one of the highlights of the Christmas season. They also have a "Line of Dimes" drive downtown every year to help buy food for the needy. Their annual money making project is selling candy. Hi-Y strives to uphold standards of Christian character, to encourage scholastic achievement, and to promote good citizenship.

Fred Honnold, Hi-Y president, and Joyce Brandenburg, Sunshine president, lead the royal procession.

Irish Batsmen Have Successful Season

The 1958 baseball season was a winning one for the Irish. They finished with a 6 won 2 lost record and placed second in the White River Conference.

Tom France, Jerry Eckhardt, and Roger Alford were elected to the W. R. Conference All-Star team. Tom France, captain, led in hitting with a mark of .438. With the loss of eight seniors from the team, Coach Jim Carey says next year will have to be a "rebuilding year."

The B-team went undefeated in four games.

Speed and Endurance Win Blue Ribbons

The tradition of a winning Irish team held true again this season as Coach Dan Dimich led his cross-country runners to victory in nine out of eleven starts. Wendell Green was the team's number one runner and the winner of eight blue ribbons. Paul Edwards and Bill Crosley gave the squad added depth by placing high in most of the meets. In the White River Conference Meet Pendleton edged the favored Madison Heights team 36-43. In the sectional meet at Anderson the Irish placed fourth. Bill Crosley was chosen to represent the Green and Gold at the State cross-country meet in Indianapolis.

Cheerleaders Guide Fans' Enthusiasm

The cheerleaders, main backers of the "Fightin Irish," have supported the team, win or lose, by showing fine examples of sportsmanship. Before the start of the basketball season, the varsity and reserve cheerleaders attended conferences at Indiana University and Portland High.

In January the varsity squad attended a meeting at Madison Heights for the promotion of good sportsmanship among schools participating in the County Tourney. The radio announcers and news reporters selected an outstanding cheerleader from each school. Selection was based on personality, leadership, sportsmanship, appearance, and enthusiasm. Linda Martin was the outstanding cheerleader from Pendleton.

J. King, J. Titus, B. Mozingo, and L. Stoner are our B-Team yell leaders.

Cheerblock Plays Active Part in Games

Cheering the team on to victory was the goal of this year's cheerblock. The longer practice sessions helped improve the routines and yells, while the green and gold pom-poms and the special program at Christmas gave the cheerblock sparkling life and color.

All knew when P.H.S. was having a ball game. How could they help knowing with all the noise from the cheerblock?

Pendleton Wins Invitational; Bows . . .

The victorious Irish have broad smiles and a well-earned trophy.

Alford blocks while Humfleet prepares to shoot.

Popular demand led to the organization of the first Madison County Tourney in 1959, at the Madison Gymnasium. Pendleton was unable to score and fell to the Madison Heights Pirates 67 to 43 in our first game. Madison Heights went on to win the tourney.

On January 9 and 10, 1959, our teams participated in the Twenty-third Annual Pendleton Invitational Tourney. Pendleton Varsity combined fast breaks and ball control to down Frankton 72 to 45. The next night the Irish returned to defeat Markleville's Arabians by a score of 54 to 45.

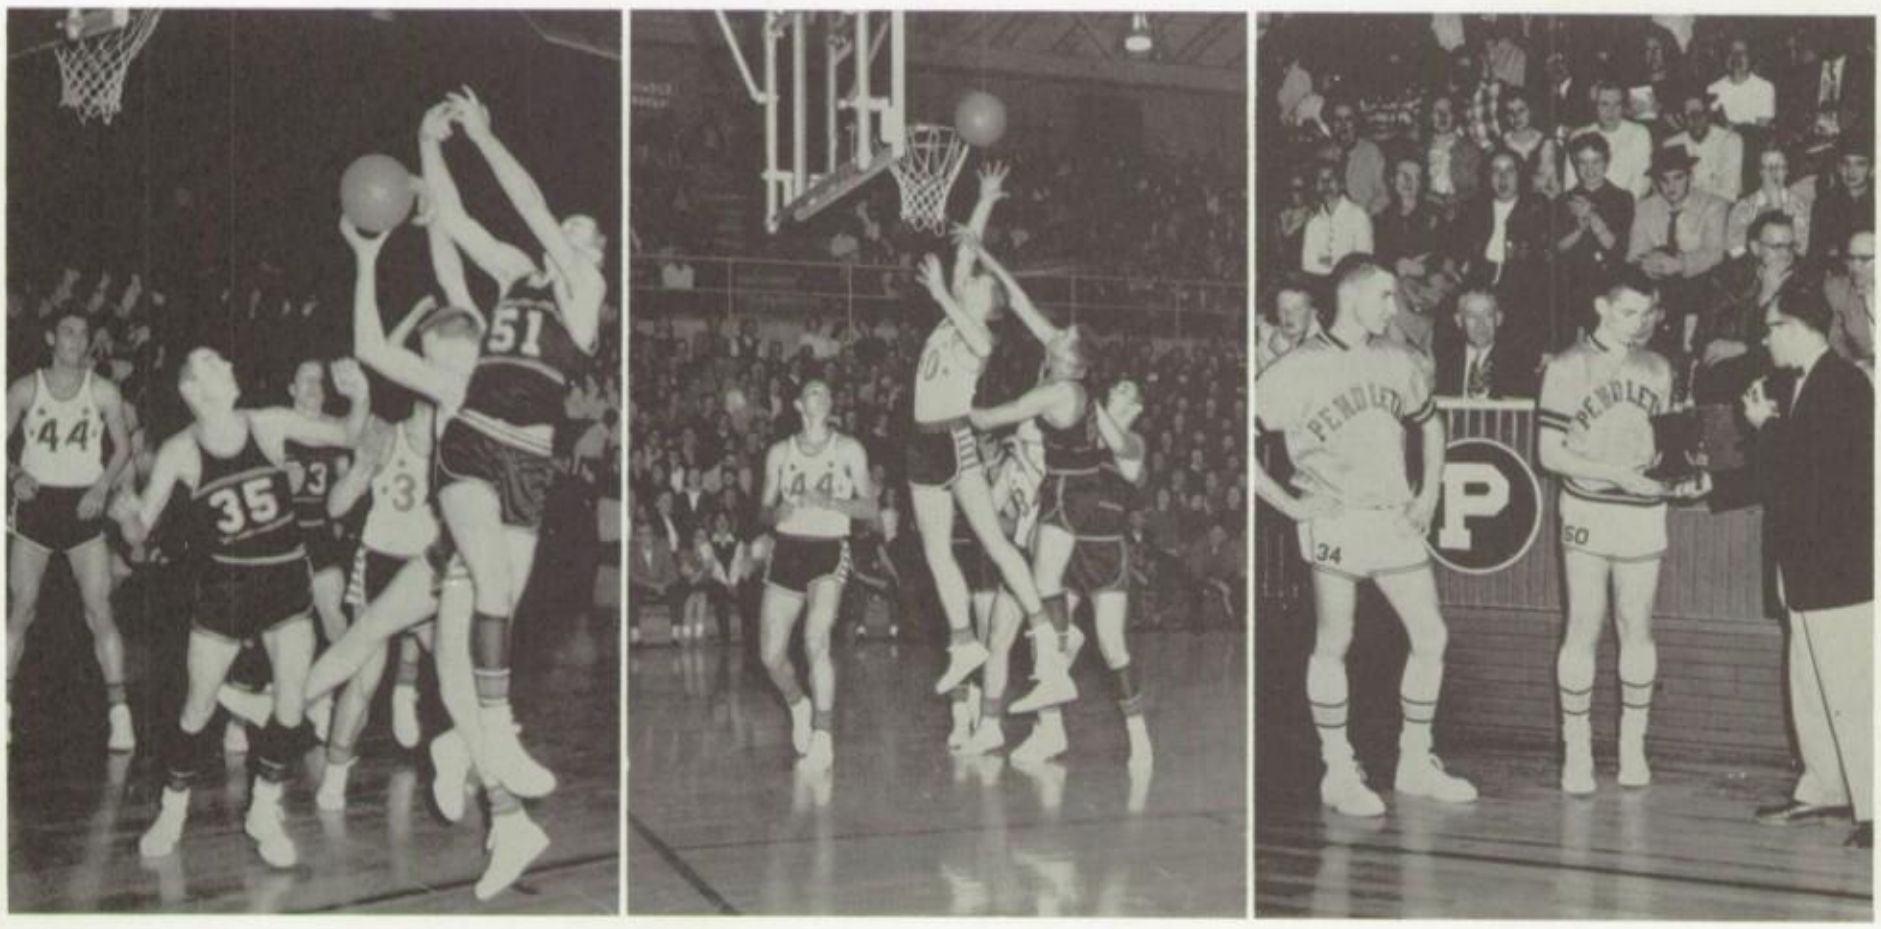
Our B-team won its first game from Frankton by a score of 54 to 35. However, Fortville took home the B-team trophy by a score of 48 to 40.

It looks like a mad scramble for the rebound.



Continuous fighting by the Irish resulted in victory in the Invitational Tourney.

Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character Excel

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in students of Pendleton High School are the objects of the National Honor Society.

Membership is based upon these four qualities and faculty recommendation. To be eligible a junior or senior must have a scholastic average of 85% or more.

Chorus Brings Joy Through Song

The all-girl chorus performed at a number of convocations throughout the school year, and sang for various organizations in the Pendleton community, under the direction of Mrs. Pentz.

The chorus attended the Madison County Choral Festival at Highland on March 25 and the District Choral and Band Contest on April 11 at Greenfield.

The chorus practices for the Christmas convocation.

The band is always an extremely busy organization. All summer they could be heard playing at 6:00 a.m. as they marched up and down East Street. Last fall they participated in the Farmers' Day Parade at the State Fair and gave a street concert at the annual Fall Festival. They attended Ball State and I.U. Band Days.

November 9 brought the highlight of the year sponsored by the Band Boosters Association. The United States Marine Band gave an outstanding concert in the high school gymnasium. During the winter at every home game the band provided different types of entertainment. In the spring they marched in the "500" Festival Parade, and they are planning to lead the local Little League Parade to start their season.

Papyrus Staff Edits Yearbook

This year's staff began work in the fall of 1957 when some of the members attended the Journalism Conference in Franklin, Indiana. Last spring all of the staff attended a similar conference at Ball State.

The staff met a number of times during the summer to complete the general planning of the yearbook, to take pictures, and to sell advertising space.

Subscriptions were taken in October with three homerooms winning prizes for the highest percentage of subscribers. The winners were Rooms 305, 312, and vocational agriculture.

Junior members of the staff assisted with writing copy and selling advertising.

Each year a staff of seniors is chosen to edit Pendleton's school paper, the Pen. Editions are published at the beginning of the basketball season, before Christmas, before the sectional, and before graduation. Each issue of the Pen includes news of classes and organizations as well as jokes, editorials, and special features.

Students Work in Journalism

Organized in 1926 by a group of adult journalism advisers, Quill and Scroll was established for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding persons who have done outstanding work in journalism.

Junior and senior members of the Papyrus or Pen Staff may be eligible for admittance in the Quill and Scroll if they rank scholastically in the upper third of their class and have been recommended by their high school adviser.

MR. LEWIS S. JACOB

Mr. Jacob Efficiently Heads the Administration

Superintendent Lewis S. Jacob, as school executive, represents the Board of Education and the State of Indiana Department of Education. He came to the Pendleton Schools in 1950 when the school enrollment was 820 with 29 teachers. The 1958-59 school year shows 1349 students enrolled with a faculty of 51 teachers and administrators.

Mrs. Frieda Teagardin, school secretary and bookkeeper for the past six years, is now in charge of the Business Office.

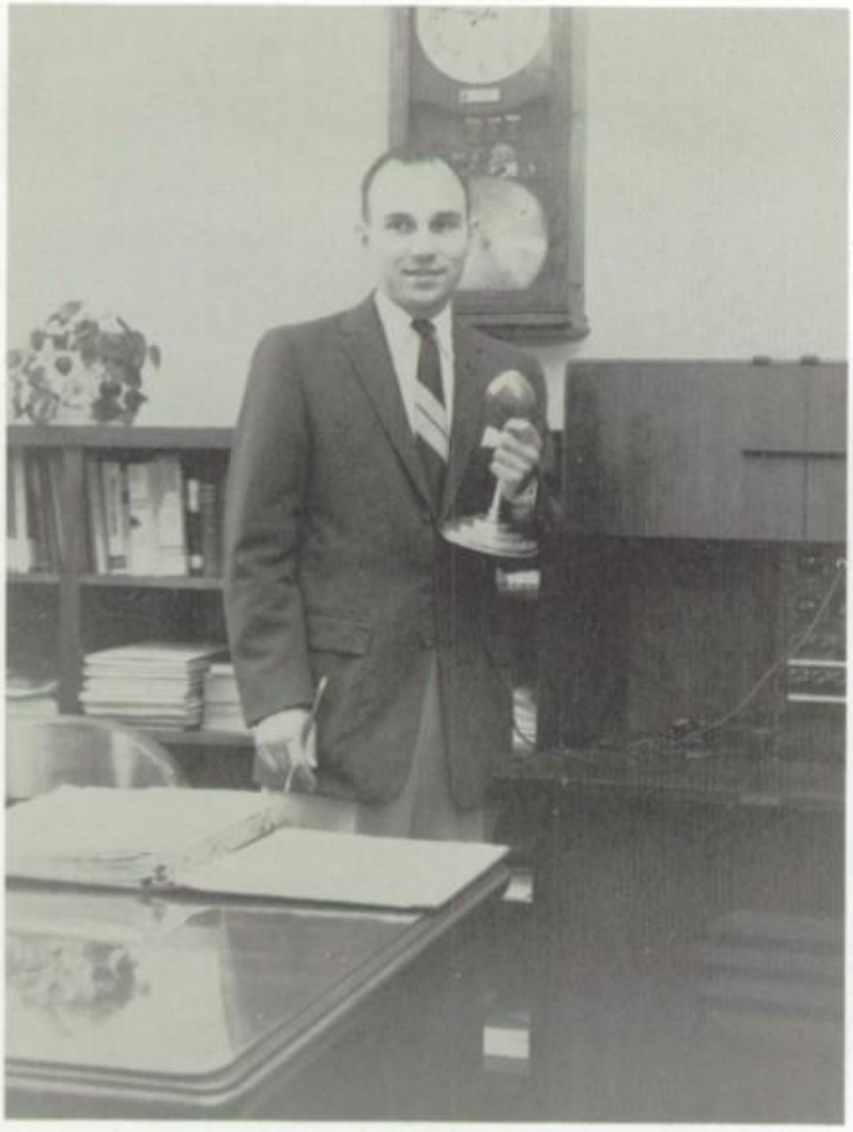
School Board Responsible for Functioning of School

The Board of Education accepts the responsibility of seeing that the maximum of facilities and resources are provided for the proper functioning of our schools, always thinking in terms of the children first. Its basic function is policy-making and not administration. Our Board has pursued an extensive building program for the past five years with the construction of a new sixteen-room elementary building which will, with the opening of the 1959 school term, house the first four grades. A new High School Vocational Agriculture and Industrial Arts Shop Building was completed and occupied in September, 1958.

Mrs. Esther Haner joined the office staff in October, 1958, and is secretary to Superintendent Jacob and the Board of Education.



MR. HAMMERLING, Principal

Mr. Hammerling, our principal, has the responsibility of keeping Pendleton High School operating in the most efficient manner possible. This involves supervision of the curricula, of the faculty, and of the students. During the course of the days and weeks he attends various meetings with school personnel and other administrators discussing the many problems which arise and planning for the future.

Mr. Hammerling and Miss Borden Successfully Guide P.H.S.

Those of you who have found it necessary to go to the principal's office the first period in the morning know what a busy and crowded place it is. You will find Miss Borden, assistant principal, and Mrs. Reighard, secretary, more than willing to help each student who needs general information, an absence slip, or advice about classes.

Class of '59 Looks Toward the Future

Striving to make their Senior year a success, members of the class of '59 began by selling Pendleton Times subscription, by editing the Pen, and by working on the 1959 Papyrus. Meanwhile they studied diligently, filled out college entrance applications, and participated in school activities and organizations.

In March they presented their class play, "Down to Earth." This was followed by the highlight of the year, a five-day class trip to Washington, D. C., in April. Then came the Junior-Senior Prom, and finally Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Although the happy, carefree days of high school are over, the class of 1959 is well prepared for the future, and looks forward to many years of happiness and success.

Ambitious Juniors Achieve Goals

Doris Lester, secretary; Phil Young, president; Linda Martin, vice-president; Ellen House, treasurer; Mr. Parr, sponsor.

Selling concessions at the ball games is the biggest project of the year for the juniors.

"Susan Steps Out," the junior class play, was a big success.

The juniors can look back on this school year as one full of fun, work, and achievements. Their activities began when they stepped into the spotlight with the junior class play, "Susan Steps Out," which was a thrilling success. Then came the first home game and their first experience selling concessions. As the year progressed, they took on more money making projects; they worked, planned, and saved for one great moment — the Prom.

One more activity deserves special mention. They did manage to study!

Latin and Shakespeare Baffle Sophomores

Nancy Stephenson, secretary; Mr. Lee, sponsor; Dave Humphrey, vice-president; Judy King, president; Jane Titus, treasurer.

The sophomores were kept busy following the Roman Conquest in Latin and Shakespearean plays in literature. Many took to the wheel in drivers training.

For their projects they sponsored a dance on January 17 and another semi-formal dance in the spring.

During the school year they enjoyed hayrides and basketball games, and eagerly looked forward to choosing their class rings.

S. Bankson, K. Fulk, J. Morris and H. Hoffman make their decisions on class rings.

Freshmen Climb Toward Graduation

Mr. Cross, sponsor; Steve Young, president; Gary Norris, treasurer; Byron Rider, secretary; Karen Rumler, vice-president, pose in the auditorium.

The freshmen began their four-year climb toward graduation with vim, vigor, and vitality. Although new subjects such as algebra and Latin had them baffled for awhile, they finished the year with flying colors.

Among their favorite pastimes were slumber and pizza parties, sock hops, and sports.

Choosing the class sweaters is one of the more important projects of the Freshman class. Mike Stohler, Mike Price, Marcia Lawson, and Sally Higginbotham inspect sweaters of former classes.

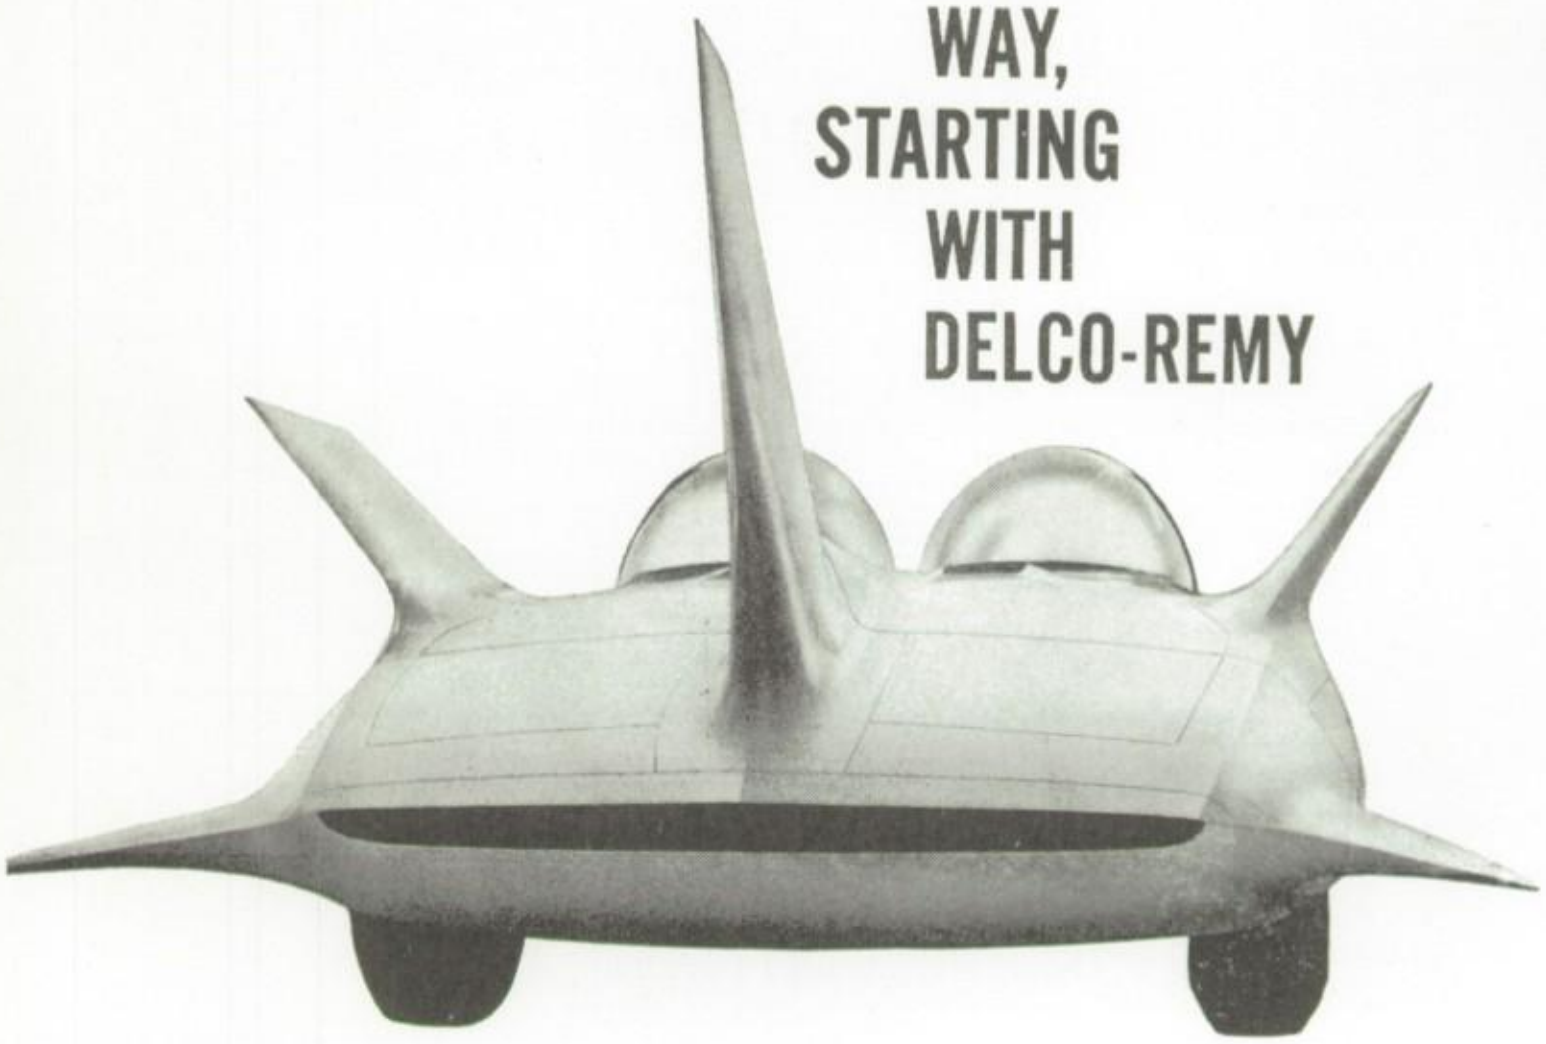
GM'S FIREBIRD III LEADS THE WAY, STARTING WITH DELCO-REMY



Now inquiring minds have turned space-age tools—electronics, transistors, computers—to ground-level motoring. From tapering mouth to towering dorsal fin, the experimental Firebird III is imagination in motion, bristling with new ideas from many General Motors divisions.

ital "heart"—the electrical system—of this new concept in transportation for the future was designed and built by Delco-Remy engineers. From the compact, transistorized voltage regulator to the 110-volt auxiliary a.c. generator—ful enough to operate home power systems in emergencies, or run appliances on camping trips—Delco-Remy's contributions to Firebird III engineering point out the shape of things to come in the automotive electrical equipment industry.

xperimental? Yes. Exceptional? No—for working to develop improvements in the field of automotive electrical systems is a permanent task here. Rather than wait for the future, we like to step forward and meet it.
